Tools for the 10th NICE EDITION in Australia

Need To Know

- Australia adopted the 10th Nice Edition for the classification of goods and services.
- May lead to an increase in citations due to changes made to the classes to be cross searched.
- Useful table of changes provided

From 1 January 2012 the 10th Nice Edition came into effect in Australia. This change has required the Australian Trade Marks Office to revise its formal cross searching list. The cross searching list is relevant as it is the listing that is used by Examiners when they examine a trade mark application for conflicts with prior rights on the Trade Mark Register. The cross searching list is also used for the programming of the “associated” class selection in the ATMOSS search engine. As a result of an increase in the number of classes in the cross search list, there is now an increased prospect of citations being located and raised.

We have prepared two tools to assist you with these changes in Australia:

- Tool 1: The New Australian Cross Search list.
- Tool 2: Itemised listing of changes to classes in 10th Edition of Nice.

If you have any queries regarding these changes we would be pleased to discuss them with you.
